More than 40 jawans have been hospitalised due to food poisoning at the Jharkhand Armed Police Training Centre in Padma, Hazaribagh. Around 1,130 constables are taking training at the Padma training centre. After training the jawans will be promoted to the rank of Assistant Sub Inspector (ASI).

The jawans started vomiting and complained of stomach ache soon after dinner on Thursday. Later, a dead lizard was found in the cooking utensil. All the jawans admitted in the hospital were said to be out of danger. The Police Association has alleged that the jawans were not being served with clean and proper food in the training centre.
